Primitive Community.

"If you want to view a primitive community," remarked a well known mining engineer and clubman, "go up to Georgetown El Dorado county. I have just come down from there, where the beautiful primitiveness and simplicity of things gave rise to a queer anomaly. A fellow was arrested the other day for cattle stealing. He was brought into town and taken before Judge Hersey, Justice of the Peace, who fixed his bail at $500, in default of which the prisoner was remanded to jail. The constable thereupon resumed charge of his prisoner and led him to the Georgetown jail. Now the Georgetown jail is not a very pretentious affair. It is an insecure little shack containing accommodations for one person. And the justice of the Peace, it turned out, was occupying it as his permanent abode. After remanding the prisoner to jail the Justice slipped out of the back door and beat the constable to the shack in question. When the constable arrived with his prisoner the Justice refused to vacate. He'd be jiggered if he'd give up his happy home to any mean, low-browed cattle thief! There was a rivalry between the two minions of the law, but the Justice held possession of the jail, and the constable was compelled to take his man down to a sawmill and place him under guard until his case could be disposed of."—San Francisco Call.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned from Our Exchanges.

Receipts at the Woodstock postoffice during October amounted to $751.63, as against $670.84 in October, 1904, showing a gain of $80.79 for the month this year.

Mrs. Harriet Dutton, of Hyde Park, received many calls November 11 on the occasion of her 95th birthday anniversary. Mrs. Dutton is in excellent health. She is probably the oldest person in Lamotte county.

The Rev. J. A. Boissonault, of St. Johnsbury, was ordained to the priesthood of the Roman Catholic Church at St. Valentine, Que., thirty-nine years ago November 11. Three years later he came to Vermont, locating as priest of the new congregation at Rutland. He went to St. Johnsbury in 1874 and has since had charge of the parish.

According to news just received, Harry Chase, of Bennington, will receive $5,000 from an uncle who recently died in Wisconsin. The letter comes from a brother who is executor of the estate. Mr. Chase is a printer and for several years has been employed in the various offices in Bennington. This is the second bequest of the kind within a few years, the other being from his father, and larger in amount.

Col. Albert S. Cummins has been promoted to the grade of lieutenant-colonel of the artillery corps, United States army. Since Colonel Cummins' graduation from the United States Military Academy at West Point in the summer of 1873, he has been continually in the service, during which time he served on two different occasions as professor of military science and tactics at the University of Vermont, Burlington.

The report of the Vermont soldiers' home, Bennington, for the first ten days in the month of November shows that the number present on duty the 10th was 82; in hospital, 24; the total, 106, being the largest number ever present in the history of the organization. Seven were absent on furlough, making the total number on the roll 113, considerably larger than ever before and the institution is taxed to nearly its full capacity.

Mr. Lincoln, a Stamford young man, who has been at the hospital in North Adams, Mass., for some time suffering from an injured knee, has been taken home. He is in a critical condition, and may not recover. His knee was injured several weeks ago while he was chopping and later he was taken to the North Adams hospital for treatment. The knee was in very bad condition when he reached the hospital, and it was while operating on it that Doctor Stafford suffered blood poisoning three weeks ago. The doctor is still in the hospital, but is doing well, and the crisis in his case is believed to be passed. It was thought by the doctors in charge of young Lincoln's case that amputation was advisable, but his father would not consent to this.

Woodstock Country Club Enlarging. The Woodstock Country Club has recently bought the meadow and farm of Stephen D. Townsend, about 140 acres, joining its grounds, for $12,000, and has already begun the work of improving the new property. The plan for the acquisition of additional land was first considered at the annual meeting of the club, held in August. At a second meeting, in view of the necessity of a larger and better golf links, a committee was appointed to negotiate for the purchase of more land, with the result as stated. The deal is one of the most important real estate transactions that has taken place in Woodstock in many years, and may mean much to the village in the purchase of adjoining sites for summer cottages and in other improvements that would naturally follow. With the present property, the club now has about 225 acres of meadow, pasture and woodland. The new golf course was laid out by Willie Tucker, the Ardley club professional, and will be about 3,000 yards long.

Uncovered Old Corduroy Road.

In excavating for the new sewer line from College Hill down past the Universalist church in Woodstock recently, Street Commissioner H. C. Lockwood uncovered log culverts two feet eight inches below the surface of the roadbed, and at three feet from the surface an old corduroy road was reached, showing that within the past eighty years or so the highway has been filled at least three feet, and that previous to that time it was very muddy. This coincides with common hearsay that much of the land in that village was originally low and swampy. It is said that when G. W. Sayward's "little" house, between the Methodist church and the foot of Church Hill, was built about four score years ago, the cellar was built upward from the surface, the ground and seven stairs were ascended to enter the main floor. The entrance is now practically level with the sidewalk.

Sen Lost Mother.

"Consumption runs in our family, and through it I lost my mother," writes E. B. Reid of Harmony, Me. "For the past five years, however, on the slightest sign of a cough or cold I have taken Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which has saved me from serious lung trouble." His mother's death was a sad loss for Mr. Reid, but he learned that lung trouble must not be neglected and how to cure it. Quickest relief and cure for coughs and colds. Price 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed by the Red Cross Pharmacy and Parlor Drug Store. Trial bottle free.

Best Food for the Money.

High prices are not always the sign of good quality, neither does a low price necessarily indicate inferiority. The value of a poultry food is determined entirely by the results obtained from its use. W. J. McWilliams, Prattville, N. Y., expresses his ideas on the subject as follows: "I have sold Page's Perfected Poultry Food in my poultry plant and find it one of the best foods for the money on the market."

WASHING WITHOUT WATER

Is Like Trying to Get Rid of Dandruff Without Herpicide.

Did you ever see any one trying to wash themselves without soap or water? If you did what would you say of him?

It is every bit as foolish to try to get rid of dandruff and to prevent baldness by feeding the germs which cause it, with Cantharides, Vaseline, Glycerine and similar substances which form the principal ingredients of most so-called Hair Vigors.

Newbro's Herpicide is successful because it attacks and kills the parasitic germ which feeds on the hair roots. It is the original and only genuine scalp germicide manufactured.

Sold by leading druggists. Send for stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
